

24st Sep 2022

Recruit Bright taking a break: A blog about the maintenance of this site to further improve it.

Welcome to the Forem Software's website. We're glad you're here and we look forward to serving you in the future! This site is currently undergoing maintenance and updates, but don't worry! We'll keep you updated as things change around here.

The System Maintenance will take place with changes on the Recruit Bright site.

The System Maintenance will take place with changes on the site.

The System Maintenance will take place with changes on the system.

The System Maintenance will take place with changes on the website.

Recruit Bright will conduct routine maintenance to make improvements to the system.

Recruit Bright will conduct routine maintenance to make improvements to the system. This includes:

- Updating our website's design and functionality.
- Ensuring we're meeting our user experience standards, including accessibility for users who use assistive technology.

Recruit Bright's website is used by millions of people every day, so it's important that we provide an experience that works for everyone—from recruiters who need quick access to information about job opportunities at their company, through candidates looking for their next opportunity and beyond.

Keep yourself updated by visiting us on our website and social media accounts.

- Visit our website and social media accounts.
- Follow us on social media accounts.
- Visit the blog, which is updated regularly with new content and features that you can use to improve your recruitment strategy.

Recruit Bright is improving! More updates will be sent by the team.

We are improving our system to provide better support for the users. With this new update, we will send all updates to all users in a timely manner.

We apologize for any inconvenience that may have been caused due to this downtime and will try to minimize it as much as possible in future updates.

We hope you have enjoyed this blog post! If you have any questions, please contact us at support@recruitbright.in